Grading Policies

The asynchronous questions are due before the start of the Live Session for that week. Asynchronous questions are graded for effort and not for correctness.
In general, asynchronous questions are not given late credit (after the first week) or without an excused absence.

For the five assignments listed above, late submissions will be accepted but will be penalized points according to the amount of lateness. As much as 1 week late will receive a late penalty equivalent to one letter grade.

Everyone can receive at least one excused absence for the Live Session. Please email me in advance if at all possible. Additional excused absences are at the discretion of the instructor.

Group Work: In the five assignments listed above, Homework 1, the Final Project and the NLP Application Investigation can all be group projects by your choice and choice of group participants. Additional work will be required for groups. Homework 2 and Homework 3 are to be individual efforts.
